

THOUSANDS FLOCK TO KAUKAUNA TO SEE HUGE PAGEANT

Enormous Crowds Are Expected at Electric City's Historical Spectacle

Every highway leading into Kaukauna will be packed with cars containing thousands of people bent on seeing the famous Pageant of Kaukauna which opens Tuesday evening. The big spectacle will be produced every evening until Sunday to afford an enormous number of people an opportunity to witness the historical play.

Hundreds of signs and pointers direct the travelers to the pageant grounds on Beaulieu's hill, on the north side. Adequate parking facilities are provided in Kaukauna baseball park and in a field adjoining the theatre. At least 5,000 cars can be taken care of and police protection will be provided.

The dress rehearsal Monday evening went off with scarcely a hitch and all day today is being devoted to taking out the last rough spots in the production. The pageant begins promptly at 8 o'clock and requires about two hours for presentation. Because of the arrangement of the scenery and the natural facilities provided on the big stage there will be no waits between episodes.

Tourists from fourteen states were in Kaukauna on Tuesday for the purpose of attending the pageant. The fame of the production, has spread all over the middlewest and travelers are coming from hundreds of miles to see the big thing which a small town is accomplishing.

The amphitheatre will seat 6,000 people comfortably and more can be taken care of. Because of the ideal arrangement of the hills and the stage, every word spoken on the platform can be heard in every part of the theatre and the marvelous light make every character distinctly visible even to spectators in the remotest corners of the big show grounds.

The pageant tells the story of Wisconsin in seven episodes, starting with the landing of Jean Nicolet in Green Bay in 1634 and ending with the World War in 1918. Costumes and scenery is as historically accurate as it was possible to make it. About 500 people are taking part in the production.

The streets of Tokyo were thronged with demonstrators on Anti-America Day. Here is a group of Japanese citizens in a "solemn, unswerving protest" against the immigration law which excludes Japanese from the United States. The demonstrators boasted that Americans in Japan fear to venture outside their homes at night.

"Flivver" Drivers, Kids On Bicycles And Truck Drivers Are "Pet Peeves"

Friend Wife driving from the back seat and flivvers of various vintages and kinds vie with each other in leading the list of Appleton automobile drivers' "pet peeves." It would be alarming for Mother if she could have read all the unkind things that were said about her tendency to boss the job of puddle jumping from the back seat. In all fairness to Mother, it should be said that the younger drivers think Dad is just as bad as Mother and that they do not blame Mother for telling Dad how to drive. The thing they object to is the way both parents take it upon themselves to tell the young people how to drive.

"You should see my father drive," said one girl who drives rather well. "He misses everything by an inch and hits it up to 40 in towns where use cop is always on the job, but when I drive he is the limit. If I go 32, he keeps pestering me about the speed law being only 30. When he says, 'There's an arterial sign! I get so mad I could get out and walk!'"

RAP THE TRUCKS

The flivver delivery trucks driven by young boys came in for a good bit of "panning" from lots of people. The way the boys go around corners and shoot out from behind other cars, is always on the mind of many a careful driver and some that are known to be not so careful.

A young woman who has driven thousands of miles said that in all her experience which includes mountain climbing as well as driving in the largest cities the thing she hates most is to get behind a Ford when she is going up a hill. Her "hate" is intensified if that same Ford has passed her a mile or so down the road.

The fellow who drives 20 miles an hour on the highway holding up a regular procession of cars, the fellow who shoots in and out on a busy highway trying to make fast time, the one who speeds up just as you go to pass him, the one who passes you without giving you notice that he is going to, the one who backs out from the curb without looking to see what is behind and drives over on your half of the road all came in for their bit (or two bits) of "razzing" when the subject was opened.

WALKING ON HIGHWAYS

Drivers get pretty vehement on the subject of people walking on the highways on the right side of the road and walking on the roads at night without a light. The drivers who mentioned this dangerous practice are all for passing a law or doing something to educate the people who must walk on the highways to walk on the left side of the road so that they face the approaching machines. The need for lights for bicyclists and for bicycles at night is the concern of many drivers who will tell about the time they nearly hit a man on a bicycle or one walking on the road.

Two women and their mothers were the subject was opened. They both had a grudge against flivver drivers. The one said: "I would rather meet anything on the road than a car faster than a wicked driver. When I see one of them coming toward me, I know that the driver had about $40 when he bought the car that he has nothing to lose if he does demolish it and that he has no money with which to pay if he bumps into me. The driver of one of those wicked cars drives to the limit. Probably his brakes are no good and at night he may as well not have any lights at all."

"I can stand the wreck, but the driver of a flivver couple gets me, said the other. "Usually the driver of the car is a young man. He's as hot as a pistol and has a girl with him or not. If he's with a girl, ten chances to one he has his arm around her and then he tries to show off. If he's alone he's trying to make time to get to a 'date.' I would wager that no one tries harder to pass cars than the driver of a flivver couple. Most of the time I suspect that they are rented

WATERWORKS HAS FULFILLED PACT WITH CITY BOARD

Payment of $16,000 Was Waterworks' Share of New Equipment

By the payment of $16,528.98 to the city general fund the Appleton water commission fulfilled its part of an agreement with the common council relative to the construction of an addition to the filter plant and new filter equipment.

This amount, which was Monday erroneously reported as the city's 5 per cent dividends on its capital investment for the year 1923, represents the surplus which accumulated between May 1, 1921, up to Dec. 31, 1923, and is over and above the 5 per cent proprietary interest, also the 2 per cent depreciation reserve and the taxes as well as all operating expenses.

Last year when the commission asked the council for an appropriation for the filter plant addition and added equipment, the commission promised to turn over to the council about $15,000 from the department's accumulated surplus in order to make up the difference of what the city appropriated and what the addition cost. The cost of construction amounted to approximately $30,000.

Payment of the $16,528.98 accumulated surplus, was delayed because of the fact that a part of it was tied up in stock. The city's dividends on its proprietary interest for the first half year of 1924 will be paid later. The surplus began to accumulate following the increase in water rates authorized by the commission in 1921.

DRIVER OF TRUCK RAMS SEDAN WHEN BEES ATTACK HIM

A bee was the cause of a collision at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon at the corner of Cherry and Sixth streets between a delivery truck owned by A. Stingle & Son, baking company, and a sedan driven by Mrs. Jay Gordon, 280 Carver-st.

The bee entered the cab of the truck occupied by the driver, Leo Kraft. While defending himself Kraft lost control of the vehicle and ran into the sedan, damaging the front wheels, fenders and body and breaking the glass of one of the doors. The front wheels of the truck were slightly damaged. No one was injured.

CRUEL TREATMENT IS DIVORCE PLAINT

Charging cruel and inhuman treatment, Mrs. Vera Luebben was granted an absolute decree of divorce from Alfred Luebben by Judge Albert M. Spencer recently. The custody and care of their ten-year-old daughter, Leone, was given to Mrs. Luebben, while the father was ordered to pay $12 a month for the child's support until she reaches the age of 16. There was an equal division of property.

The couple was married in April, 1912, in the town of Clayton, Winnebago-co. Keller and Keller, attorneys, represented the plaintiff.

BOGAN, MOTORCOP, HURT IN ACCIDENT

The champion hard luck man in Outagamie-co is Wilbur Bogan, county motorcycle officer, who has never gone through a season of speed without having two or three accidents. The officer was injured again about 12:30 Tuesday morning on the Little Chute rd. He was on his way to his home in Little Chute, when the front tire of his motorcycle blew out and ran into the ditch and through a wire fence. He was painfully cut about the face. The Appleton police touring car was called to convey him to his home where he was attended by a physician.

BUILDING PERMITS

WILLIAMS ON TRAIL OF HOODOO THAT JINXED TRIP

E. L. Williams, city clerk, is still looking for the hoodoo that pursued him on his recent automobile trip to Michigan. With Mrs. Williams and their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Luman Williams, they started out a week ago to auto to Detroit to visit Mr. Williams' sister, Miss Marian E. Williams, who is the editor of the Woman's page of the Detroit News, and to visit their son, Vinton, at Trenton, Mich. Punctures and blowouts were the vague all during the trip. After having about three or four of these annoying mishaps, a stranger loaned them a tire for use until they would reach the next garage. But even this tire gave out before they reached the garage. Mr. Williams was back at his job Monday after a week's vacation.

CAPTAIN SCHWAHN AT FIREMEN'S CONVENTION

Captain Emil Schwahn of the Appleton fire department left Monday for Stevens Point to attend the state convention of the Wisconsin Paid Firemen's association. Other firemen expected to drive down by automobile for a day or two evening.

FISHES TISH

South Kensington, England—A fish with an angling rod sticking out of its back and a tackle dangling at its end to entice its prey, within reach of its mouth has been introduced into the Natural History Museum here. It was caught by a Hull trawler in the haddock waters. The fish is a yard long and its fishing rod a full foot.

TINY GRAMOPHONE

Vienna—A gramophone no larger than a watch has been invented by a Hungarian engineer. There is room inside for 10 plates, and the instrument gives a repertoire of 20 selections. By playing the gramophone on a champagne glass, the sound is amplified sufficiently to be heard in all parts of an ordinary-sized room.

BIG CROWDS — BRIGHTON

LAFOLLETTE CLUB WILL BE FORMED AT MEETING THURSDAY

County Board Committee Grants Use of Courthouse for Meeting

The county grounds and building committee at a meeting in the courthouse Monday afternoon, decided to give the use of the circuit court room to the promoters of the LaFollette-Wheeler club which will be organized Thursday evening.

While the gathering in the courthouse Thursday evening is not intended to be a mass meeting, a large crowd is expected, inasmuch as in a number of the larger cities and inaugurated by Philadelphia some time ago. The purpose of the double color is to improve the appearance and to make them more conspicuous.

The purpose of the organization of the club is to bring persons interested in the independent candidates in closer contact with each other for concentrated effort. A program of speakers is now being arranged for the meeting Thursday evening.

Congressman George J. Scandeler, will go to Marinette Tuesday evening to speak at a similar meeting there. He is promoting the LaFollette-Wheeler campaign in the Ninth district through the organization of such clubs. Two weeks ago he launched the LaFollette-Wheeler club in Outagamie county, where about 2,000 persons in the county, both of the Republican and Democratic parties, who are interested in the LaFollette-Wheeler candidates.

CORBETT SPEAKS AT PESHTIGO MEETING

Hugh G. Corbett managing secretary of the chamber of commerce was at Peshtigo Monday evening, where he addressed the Commercial club following a dinner at the Cholette house. He discussed the meeting to be held in Appleton Thursday, Aug. 14, at which time the Greater Wisconsin association is to be organized.

Mr. Corbett has been notified that nearly 100 members from Madison will attend the meeting. They will make the trip in 20 automobiles.

PUT FLASHY COLORS ON FIRE HYDRANTS

All fire hydrants in Appleton are undergoing a complete change of disguise. The water department is dressing them up in a new uniform of green and yellow, so that automobilists will be certain to see them. The body of the hydrants is being painted a bright yellow, while the tops and the caps are painted green. This is in line with the movement started in a number of the larger cities and inaugurated by Philadelphia some time ago. The purpose of the double color is to improve the appearance and to make them more conspicuous.

The funeral will be held at 2:30 Thursday afternoon from the R. J. Meyer residence, 755 Center-st, with interment in Riverside cemetery.

Glaring headlights, drunken drivers, people with defective vision unfit them for driving and people who stop on highways without setting off the road far enough to allow other cars to pass also are "pet peeves." Those who fail to stop at the stop signs cause the lot of more than the law to rise. People who back up every one else ought to take the blame on their own "pet peeves."

By mistake, a resident whose pet peeve is the folly of owning an automobile was asked about it by pet peeves when driving one. He accompanied the following remarks with a killing glance at the reporter. "I ride in a street car but my pet peeve is seeing so many 'dead beasts' driving cars. Sometimes I am tempted to tell them so, but that isn't considered good business etiquette."

LIGHTNING RODS SUREST METHOD TO BEAT FIRE HAZARD

Chief G. P. McGillan Indorses
Movement to Reduce Fire
Losses

Chief George P. McGillan of the Appleton fire department is in accord with other fire prevention officials, insurance men and scientists, that a lightning rod system of proper materials, properly installed, grounded to permanent moisture, and kept in repair, is almost absolute protection of life and property in electrical storms. It is the best safeguard that the farmer, who is removed from city fire protection, can install on his farm, he said, for lightning is the heaviest fire hazard on the farm.

Some farmers still are prejudiced against lightning rods as a result of the deceitful practices of the oldtime lightning rod agents. Many poor installations were made because the selection of materials and the methods of installation were left to the agent's elastic conscience, and it was found that lightning rods did not prevent fires.

But now when a farmer desires to install a lightning rod system he may specify by contract that it shall first be approved by the laboratories of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, and codes and standards may be obtained from that source.

According to a bulletin received by Chief McGillan from the state industrial commission, fires caused by lightning are decreasing where buildings are properly equipped with lightning rods and are kept in repair. In 1923 there were 107 lightning fires on Wisconsin farms not equipped with lightning rods and caused $332,625 damages. In the same year there were only 12 lightning fires causing $103,480 loss on buildings equipped with lightning rods. But in each of these 12 cases it was discovered that the system was not properly installed or not kept in repair properly.

The highest cable railway in the world—12,600 feet above sea level—is being constructed at Mt. L'Aigle, Du Midi, Switzerland.

These essentials must be secured in any method of canning. The details of procedure may differ, yet all have as their object the prevention of spoilage.

The Department of Agriculture has issued a revised booklet explaining in detail the proper methods of home canning.

This booklet also gives recipes for preserves, jams, jellies, conserves and marmalades.

Wausau Boys Out Of Jobs Steal A Meal

Reduced to the extremity of getting food by theft, two boys broke into the Jennings meat market of New London at midnight Saturday, but were caught in the act by Officer Stearns and jailed. The boys gave their names as Horron Hushon and Roy Johnson. They are both 17 years old and hail from Wausau, they said.

Having left their home about a week ago, they were still looking for a job when they tramped from Appleton to New London Saturday. Hushon got the better of them Saturday night, when they attempted to steal a meal in the meat market. They are now dining daily at the police station until their case is disposed of. They were arraigned Monday morning before E. W. Wendlandt, acting police justice, and were to have their examination Wednesday.

YOUTH MAY ESCAPE JAIL BY JOINING U. S. NAVY

Efforts are being made on behalf of Henry Skall of Neenah, recently arrested in Appleton for taking his employer's automobile without consent, to have him taken into the navy. When his case came up in municipal court at Oshkosh last Friday morning his sentence was postponed, Judge Goss allowing a continuation of one week. The court has had his punishment under advisement and it appears that clemency will be granted the boy provided he is properly supervised.

37 CASES LISTED IN PROBATE COURT

Heinemann

Thirty-seven cases were listed on the probate court calendar for the special term of county court opened by Judge Fred V. Heinemann Tuesday morning.

Hearings on proof of will are scheduled for the estates of Herman Yantz, Frank Schreiner, Charlotte Schwemer, Fred Bickel, Charles Ritter.

Claims were to be heard with reference to the following estates: Anna E. Comee, Robert C. Lockerman, Otto A. Look, Comfort S. Buckland, John Stark, Nicholas Dey, Cornelius S. B. Boyd, Benjamin Rosenthal, Henrietta Schoettler, John Molter, Mary Eliza Merritt, Edward S. Beckner.

Preferred claims against the following estates also were scheduled for hearing: Christina Green, Catherine VanGompel, Charles Riesenweber, Amanda K. Green, Anna Vosbeck, John Bottensek, Alfred Galpin, John H. Vandenberg, Helen Sigl, Peter J. Laux, Christian Strassburger, Franz Krueger.

Final account was to be rendered in the estates of Wilson J. Berthier.

TIGHTEN RESTRICTIONS ON CARNIVAL COMPANIES

Although carnival companies still drift into this vicinity occasionally, they are less frequent than in recent years. The same situation is evident throughout the state. The reason for this is attributed by C. B. Ballard of Appleton, state treasury agent, to the stringent regulations he adopted. Under the new regulations put in force this season, carnival firms must sign an agreement not to operate certain types of amusements before being permitted to show in the state.

Receipts for Mr. Ballard's department last year amounted to $74,355, according to his annual report for the fiscal year ending June 30. Appropriations for his department amounted to $6,000. July, the first month of the new fiscal year, broke all previous collection receipts with a total of $16,275. May was the banner month for the previous year when $11,745 was collected.

Horman Zschaechner, Margaret L. VanBussum, Clara Meydam. Petition for amendment to final decree in the estate of John J. Henck, petition for administration of the estate of Charles Masche, and petitions to determine descent of land in the estates of Jacob Ganserer and Walter Siebert also were to be heard.

KRIEG CASE PUT OVER FOR A WEEK

Because of the inability of several of the state's most important witnesses to be in court, the case of the state against James Krieg, Jr., of Neenah, charging him with reckless driving and previous conviction was continued in municipal court at Oshkosh Friday for one week, to Aug. 8.

Krieg piloted the machine which turned turtle on the Lake Shore road a few weeks ago, seriously injuring Marie Burr, daughter of Patrolman Henry Burr of Neenah.

Reports indicated that the condition of Miss Burr, who suffered a broken back, is still serious. She showed improvement for a time but recently her progress toward recovery has not been as marked as was hoped for.

BLAMES PLANE FOR RUNAWAY ON FARM

Flying low over a field of wheat, an airplane Saturday caused a team belonging to Charles Kestler of the town of Grand Chute to run away while attached to a binder. Mr. Kestler was cutting his grain at the time and was thrown backward to the ground from his seat and was painfully bruised and shaken up. The team ran nearly across the field with the binder before it became clogged with grain. The horses escaped injury, but the machine was quite badly damaged. Mr. Kestler visited Appleton Monday to see about starting action to recover damages.

LABOR AND LA FOLLETTE

It was natural that the executive council of the American Federation of Labor should indorse Mr. La Follette for president. Whatever the opportunities of fulfillment of Mr. La Follette's program, and regardless of the extent to which it may be sound or unsound, there is no denying the fact that it is conceived for the benefit of labor. Labor has, after the social and industrial conflicts of the last thirty years, reached the conclusion that it needs special representation in government. It has not yet formally approved independent political action, on the contrary it has simultaneously with its indorsement of La Follette repudiated this idea. Nevertheless, it is only a step from a concerted effort to throw the labor vote as a unit to the presidential candidacy of an individual to the formation of a labor party. This, it is true, would involve a departure from the time-honored policy of the American Federation of Labor, but times are changing and we are in the midst of social and political evolution of far-reaching consequences. Regardless of what showing the La Follette candidacy makes in this campaign we are of opinion that within the next four years labor will definitely go into politics through independent party organization. It has the success of the labor movement in Great Britain to recommend such a course and the victory of the social-radicals in France as moral encouragement.

We are not afraid of a movement of this kind in the United States. If it could be successfully combined with farmers' tendencies toward separate experiments in politics, there is no doubt that it would succeed, for the farmer-labor vote is an overwhelming majority. While we believe it is extremely doubtful if the combination can be effected and preserved, it is not improbable that it may be attempted. A labor administration in the United States would not be a matter of grave concern. It might prove to be a wholesome tonic for the political depravity we have suffered in recent years at the hands of the two old parties. The capacity of labor leadership would have to determine that, but we do not think it would be irresponsible or radical to the degree that it would upset our institutions or menace any of the accepted and established property rights.

Labor's indorsement of La Follette will add something to the strength of his campaign, but it will not, in our judgment, materially increase the number of states he has a possibility of carrying. He would get that part of the labor vote which is disposed to accept his theories anyhow. The greater significance in the indorsement lies in what may take place in the future. There is one serious inconsistency in La Follette's policies and those of labor, and that is in the foreign field. The American Federation of Labor is wholeheartedly committed to the League of Nations and to that form of internationalism which makes the United States a genuine contributor to the peace of the world. Mr. La Follette is opposed to this program. However, it is contended that domestic policies are more important than foreign policies, and that in this respect Mr. La Follette comes nearer to representing the aims and ideals of the labor movement than any other candidate.

THE DEFENSE DAY CONTROVERSY

The National Defense day controversy has reached ludicrous proportions. Politics has managed to make a mountain out of a molehill because of what it may offer for argument in the presidential campaign. The Democratic nominee was quick to make an issue of the matter, observing it afforded a chance for a personal disagreement with Mr. Coolidge who had come to the support of Defense Day observance. Mr. La Follette, whose political fortunes are cast with those extremists who construe even a national guard as an expression of militarism, complains that the Democrats stole his thunder by first making a big noise over the question.

The opposition to National Defense day is pure politics and nothing else, except among those pacifists who would not even fight for the protection of their country and their homes. It is exactly as Senator Reed says, that the "pretention that preparedness will create a lust for blood is the limit of absurdity." Every citizen possessing common sense, to quote Mr. Reed further, "now knows that the day may come when some great power or combination of great powers may attack the United States." To argue that despite troubled world conditions and the possibility of future wars, we should totally disarm and subject ourselves to the aggression or hostility of foreign powers is childlike. To contend that the very small military forces maintained by the United States and the several states represent militarism or are likely to lead this country into an aggressive war is equally childish.

The one great opportunity for militarism in this country since Cuba was Mexico. Although the pressure for intervention, which was a cloak for conquest, was tremendous, and was in the days when the navy and army were made much more of than today, it produced little effect and never had any real chance of succeeding. There is no spirit in this country that can be classed as militaristic. The whole history of the United States is anti-militaristic. It is the most peace-loving nation on earth.

The hubbub raised about National Defense day is a political dispute to capitalize the fears and prejudices of the people. Governor Blaine's statement is characteristic. Not only is it insulting in its direct statements to the war department, but in the sufficiency it portrays of Wisconsin patriotism. Mr. Blaine's suggestion that instead of a national defense day we should have a national peace demonstration day is a little premature. When he and the political organization with which he is affiliated have obstructed every direct move this country has made or that has been proposed, to organize the world for peace, his words have a hollow sound. Mr. Blaine is opposed to the League of Nations, he is opposed to American cooperation with Europe to restore real peace, and he is against any genuine international program to outlaw war. The governor of Wisconsin is for whatever will promote his political interests, and if he thinks he can get some votes by a specific course of action he will take it, no matter in what light it places him, or how illogical he may appear. That is precisely what he is doing in his brusk and insolent refusal to call out the National Guard of Wisconsin on Defense Day.

TODAY'S POEM

By HAL COCHRAN

PEN SECRETS

JUST a plain old black pen that's been around the end, and it lives on a postoffice table. It's dipped in the ink as the writer holds it. Oh, what it could tell, if it were able.
A maiden approaches and scribbles a bit. She smiles as a letter is written. The pen knows the secrets there's no doubt of it. It knows that she loves the man.
A boy in his teens with no dough in his jeans, the love line of writers will join. The pen knows the lad is just waiting to tell to suggest that he and him some day.
A mother walks in, mid the postoffice dim. A little old lady in black. She writes to a child, perhaps, her son and she knows that the youngster loves her.
The trusty old pen serves its duty right well. It works for whoever may call. It's a bit of a secret, but never will tell. They're making pen secrets—that's all.

Health Talks

Noted Physician and Author

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

PERILS OF THE BATH

They say the doctors opposed the introduction of the bath tub in this country, and one can well believe it, because as a general rule whatever the doctors oppose, no matter how unjustly or unreasonably they seem to do so, is objectionable on good grounds. But people have a way of going ahead and doing as they please or as the commercial propaganda suggests, with out much regard for what the doctors may think about it, and so a good many thousands of our poor people find themselves stuck with a bath tub and a growing reluctance to use it. That is, to bathe in.

Not that my notions about the common bath tub would discourage any one from getting into one of the nasty things. But it appears that health experts or authorities are finding serious fault with the boarding house, hotel, dormitory and family tub. A health expert or authority is a person who expresses opinions, observations or theories on any question of hygiene or sanitation and lives far enough away so you don't know him to well. In fact some such essential is an important factor in the making of authorities on any subject.

Katherine Hirst and Jean Broadhurst of Teachers' college, New York found the common colon bacillus, a germ normally present in the human intestine and sometimes responsible for disease, in 39 out of 113 bath tubs which were ordinarily clean.

When the common colon bacillus is found in water we usually condemn the water as unsafe to use, for the presence of that bacillus is a good index of pollution of the water.

It made no difference whether the tubs examined were "clean" or "dirty" in the ordinary sense.

If such germs, usually harmless though they be, are found frequently in bath tubs, it would be reasonable to suppose that more virulent disease producing germs may be transferred via the common tub. But as far as I know there is not actual proof or convincing scientific evidence that anybody ever does catch any disease through the use of a common bath tub or a common drinking cup.

Hirst and Broadhurst found that the use of ammonia failed to kill the colon bacilli in or on the tub. Likewise the use of kerosene failed to kill the germs.

But ordinary chlorinated lime (commonly sold by groceries in tin boxes as "chlorine of lime") did kill the germs when applied in freshly made saturated solution—all the chlorinated lime a quart of water will dissolve. Two highly purified commercial "disinfectants" proved useless when applied in the dilutions advertised, though, fairly obnoxious to the germs when applied in solutions twice as strong as the optimistic advertisements suggest. "There is probably no addition to the cleaning and disinfecting substances used in the home so well worth the money and the slight amount of labor required," assert these experts, "as the small tin of chloride of lime" for use as disinfectant.

To all of which I agree, only my notion is that one should leave bath tubs for helpless invalids and use only a shower for body washing.

Baby's Meal Time

How often should a baby 10 weeks old be fed? Is five times a day enough, with water in between and as night? I nurse the baby. How many ounces of water should a baby have in 24 hours to keep them healthy? (Mrs. R. A. S.)

Answer.—Until the baby is four months old better give him a nursing around 10 at night and again around 6 in the morning, with regular nursings at intervals of three hours through the day. After the age of four months the nursing intervals may be 3 1/2 to four hours. In hot weather give the baby a bottle of water or cup of water two or three times a day if he wants it. Let him drink all he wants, the water pleasantly cool.

Placing responsibility for the break directly upon France, Germany today formally declared war on her neighboring republic. A Berlin dispatch said Germany was prepared to fight the entire world in defense of her honor. Kaiser Wilhelm in effect told the Reichstag today. He made no effort to control the gravity of the situation. It was plain that he no longer feared that England would remain neutral.

It was officially announced at the foreign office at London that Germany had declared war on Belgium. This announcement followed England's declaration that she would stand by Belgium to protect the integrity of her territory. The German army of invasion which crossed the frontier at Mars at Four was attacked by French troops.

A Washington dispatch said the German embassy notified the state department that during the period of mobilization in Germany and until completed no foreigners, not even American tourists, would be permitted to leave the country.

President Woodrow Wilson signed the United States proclamation of neutrality in the European war at 12:30 this afternoon.

Chemist Is Miracle Man For Farmer

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—Will the modern chemistry revolutionize farming? The chemist in his laboratory, patiently studying mysteries concerning atoms, vitamins, and hydrogenations, may seem to be in an entirely different world from the farmer at the plow. But some of the present research is so fundamental, and the possibilities of applying it are so tremendous, that the farmer is on the verge of a new era—at least so the situation appears when an agricultural chemist explains the latest problems and discoveries.

The new agricultural chemistry should be interesting even to the city dweller who is neither a scientist nor a farmer. What up-to-date individual could fail to get a thrill from the fact that a plant vitamin has been isolated? There are famous vitamins, which are so important to the health of human beings and animals, are a familiar topic of conversation. Few people can talk as glibly of plant vitamins.

DISCOVERS BIOS

Bios is the first plant vitamin to be discovered. Plants, like animals, require water and food. The plants obtain food from the soil. If vitamins are lacking, the plant's growth may be stunted, just as the growth of a human being is affected in similar circumstances.

Some time ago, an Englishman reported that it was possible to take peat, which is not a very complete plant food, and by treating it with bacteria make it into an efficient plant food. Unfortunately, no one else was ever able to duplicate the Englishman's remarkable results with peat. But yeast contains a growth-producing principle, called bios, which has the powers that the Englishman claimed for peat. A Belgian discovered the substance, and now chemists are busily studying it.

A great deal is heard about the importance of isolating a vitamin. Recently, a scientist has been successful in isolating the substance bios. No scientist has yet isolated any vitamin in sufficiently satisfactory condition to make analysis possible. He may be able to take a chemical formula and produce the same substance out of their laboratory bottles. Whether the plant vitamin in yeast will promote growth of other plants is not yet known. If it is like animal vitamins, it can be fed to the plants in some way. In that event, knowing how to produce bios in the laboratory in large quantities would be extremely useful and practical.

BALANCED RATIOS

There may be other plant vitamins, besides this one, which are necessary to growth and vigor. It may in time be possible to see that plants get a balanced ration, and stunted plants yielding poor grade fruit may become tons of lime may some day be more economically brought about by studying the hydrogen-ion of every soil and determining the hydrogen-ion concentration of different crops. Then the farmer will add hydrogen-ion to soils that require it, and he will select his crops for different fields on a more scientific basis than at present.

The Question Box

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical, and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. How old was Jack London when he died? E. E.

A. He was forty years old, and one of the most promising authors of his time.

Q. Are sailors allowed to bring pets into this country? A. T. R.

A. At the request of the Secretary of Agriculture, the Navy Department has issued a warning against any Navy vessels taking on board in foreign waters, lambs, goats, other ruminants and peccaries. Sailors often collect such animals as pets, but with the prevalence of foot-and-mouth disease among livestock abroad every precaution is being taken to exclude carriers of the disease.

Q. Can abalone be obtained in market. How is it prepared? M. K.

A. It is understood that State legislation prevents exportation of abalone out of California. The abalone is considered a delicacy when prepared properly, even excelling the scallop in flavor. The meat is removed from the shell by cutting away the large central muscle. The visceral mass and the mantle fringe are trimmed off from the muscle, which is then cut transversely in thin slices. Each of the small steaks thus made is beaten several times with the flat side of a meat cleaver and when fried it is tender and delicious. It may also be made into a chowder, or minced, crumbed and fried in the "patty" form. Although the abalone may be eaten at any season, it is not obtainable in the fresh condition from the middle of January to the middle of March, the fishery being closed during the spawning season.

Q. Who wrote the song "O Promise Me" in Robin Hood? L. R. H.

A. This song was not a part of the original score of "Robin Hood," but was interpolated, as was "The last Rose of Summer," in "Martha," Victor Herbert wrote the music and Clement Scott the words. Jessie Bartlett Davis, the original Alana-Dale of the Bostonians, first interpolated the number, singing it in the second act.

Girls May Form Club For Archery

Girls who are interested in archery will have an opportunity to learn to use a bow and arrow, for Appleton Women's club has invited all girls interested to meet at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the clubhouse, from where they will go to one of the parks. Those who would like to stay for a siskebob supper are to take the necessary ingredients. Miss Anne Smith will accompany the girls. If the interest in archery is great enough it is possible that an archery club will be formed.

Many of the girls took pictures while camping at Onaway Island, Waupaca, and will enter them in the contest that the Ideal Photo shop is conducting for the campers. The winners will receive enlargements as prizes.

Mary Lou Wrasse was selected to write a letter telling all about the camp that is to be sent to Miss Martha Chandler, head of the recreation department, in exchange for a similar letter sent the campers by the group of girls Miss Chandler has charge of at Dunstable, Mass.

The club is anxious that the girls call for camp luggage and baggage that has been left at the clubhouse.

Jewelled Gloves Are Excuses For Expense, Says Giddy Parisian

New York—Jewels, jewels, jewels! And more jewels than you've ever worn before.

This is the verdict from Paris. The dinner ring that covered the entire small finger, and that you used to think so immense and pretentious, is as a diminutive doll's ring contrasted with the latest French novelties.

For instance, there's the "jeweled glove," an innovation that fills the jeweler's heart with joy and father's with despair. By it, finally, woman can wear more jewels on her hand than ever before.

The "glove" may be of diamonds, pearls or both. It hangs over the back of the hand, from a gorgeous finger ring to a still more entrancing bracelet. Platinum chains hold the stones together in an artistic design. The chains are supple and strong, and in no way hamper the free movement of the hand.

WELL, IT'S PRACTICAL

"Indeed," says the proud designer, "though this covering is expensive, it is thoroughly practical, for the bracelet and ring may be detached and worn separately."

This same designer has directed his extravagant tastes toward the coiffure. He has achieved some novel decorations for the head.

One ornamental product of his uncurbed imagination attaches around one ear by means of a platinum thread and rests on the cheek, to replace the vanished curls of a less exaggerated bob.

BEAUTIFIERS

Another extravaganza consists of a bejeweled decoration running from forehead to back hair comb. Chains of tiny pearls or diamonds are worn over the entire center, and across the forehead. These are attached to the jeweled comb in back, or under the hair at the side, with a platinum chain.

That's not all. If you are not satisfied with this show of wealth and extravagance, Paris has found a way to decorate your evening gowns with rhinestones, pearls and diamonds. These stones, nowadays, are used profusely as girlish shoulder straps and other forms of ornamentation.

It is the court of Louis XV revived in all its splendor and magnificence. To become a member, there is only one requirement: Money, money, money!

The Company's policy of centralization of generation and distribution has made possible reliable service at reasonable rates.

Security: These Bonds will be issued under the Mortgage of the Company dated July 1, 1923, and before their issuance there will be pledged under the Mortgage an equal principal amount of the Company's First Mortgage Gold Bonds. Upon release of the Company's First Mortgage these Bonds will be secured by a direct first mortgage lien.

Earnings: For the year ended December 31, 1923, earnings were: gross, $49,633,311; net, after deducting total expenses including amortization, depreciation, etc., available for interest on the Company's funded debt, $10,604,730, as compared with the annual interest requirements on the total funded debt, including this issue, of $4,543,700. Net earnings for the current year to date show an increase over the corresponding period of 1923.

These Bonds are offered for delivery if, as and when accepted by us, and subject to the approval of counsel. All statements herein are official or based on information which we regard as reliable, and while we do not guarantee them, we ourselves have relied upon them in the purchase of this security.

News About And For Farmers

FIFTEEN PULASKI COWS QUALIFY FOR 50 POUND CLASS

Splendid Production Records Made in July, Tester Reports

Fifteen cows in the Pulaski Cow Testing association, which includes a large number of farmers in northern Outagamie-co, produced fifty or more pounds of butterfat in July, according to the monthly report prepared by William Radtke, official tester. Seventy cows had production records of forty or more pounds of butterfat for the month.

A grade Holstein owned by George Tubbs was the best producer of the month, with a record of 1,740 pounds of milk testing 64.3 pounds of butterfat. Another grade Holstein owned by Fred Roepcke was not far behind with a production record of 1,500 pounds of milk and 63 pounds of butterfat.

Following are the records of the fifteen highest producing cows:

CORN WILL EARN PROFIT THIS YEAR

Shortage Reacts for Dollar Bushel Price—Hog Market Also Will React

Corn will make the Wisconsin farmer money this year.

Every report and estimate shows a short corn crop and the price has mounted until an acute shortage is evident. On top of the present sharp demand and limited supply, resulting in a long price, is the prospect of a short crop this harvest season. A corn crop of 2,515,000,000 bushels this year, as compared to 3,045,000,000 in 1923 is estimated.

Southern Wisconsin appears to be favored this year. The crops are far advanced over those in northern Wisconsin and are said to compare favorably with those in the corn belt states like Illinois and Iowa. Never has there been a better hay crop and given a fair break for the next six weeks farmers in this section will have a corn crop far above the average. Grain crops here are in better condition than elsewhere, despite the threatened devastation from the army worms.

The corn prices is bound to react on the pork market. You cannot have dollar corn and low priced hogs. Apparently there is considerable

Champion Jersey Cow Is Useful To Dairying World After Death

Boltsville, Md. — Even in death, Sophie 19th, famous Jersey champion has given herself to science.

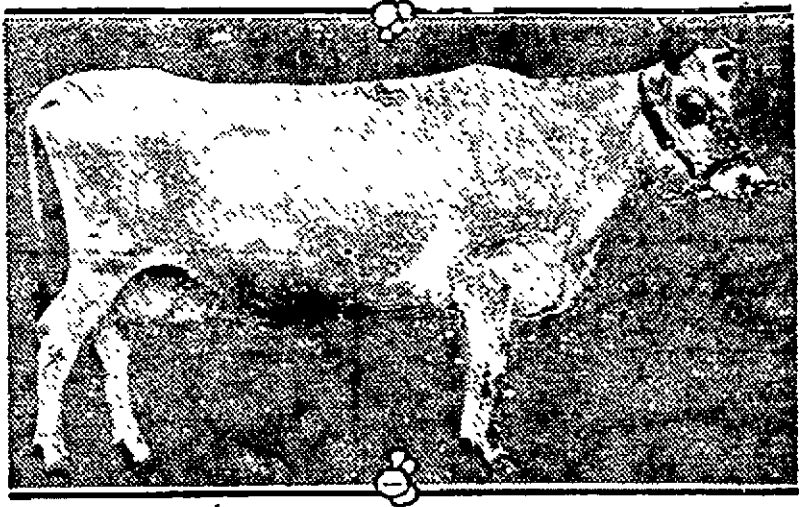

After nearly 20 years of service in milk and butter production, during which time she held many championships, Sophie was slaughtered recently on the government farm here, in the presence of many scientists interested in the study and improvement of domestic animals. She was a member of the famous Jersey herd at Hood Farm, Lowell, Mass.

But, killed because of old age, Sophie is still useful to science. Her body has been the object of study by scientists of the Department of Agriculture.

Their special search is confined to high-yielding dairy cows, to see if there is some relationship between the sizes of the organs and their productivity. Also a new basis for judging dairy cattle may be developed.

During her lifetime Sophie produced nearly 100 tons of milk and almost five tons of butter. At the age of seven years she produced 999 pounds of butterfat, which means about 1200 pounds of butter in one year.

From January, 1914, to November, 1918, she was world champion Jersey and as late as 1920, when she was very old for a cow, she was eighth highest milk producer of the herd.

Army Worm Is Found On State Farms

Army worms are taking heavy toll from the fields of southern Wisconsin, reports H. F. Wilson, of the economic entomology department, Wisconsin College of Agriculture.

"I have been receiving scores of inquiries as to how to check the damages done by insects and worms among these inquiries are letters from farmers of Grant, Green and Rock counties, asking how to stop the army worm," says Wilson.

The mother moth of the army worm lays about 700 eggs at her first appearance in early June. She usually chooses grassy low places to lay her eggs, and there she deposits them on blades of grass.

Ten days later the baby caterpillars hatch out and hunt for food. Cloudy and damp weather is the ideal weather for them. They are as hungry as they can be. Everything including grains, grasses, and forage crops are eaten by that army of worms as they go marching over the fields.

It has been reported that in some localities of the United States whole grain fields have been chewed up by the army worm overnight.

Where the worms already appear in the field of corn or small grain, poisoned bran should be scattered, about 8 to 10 pounds, wet weight, to the acre. The sowing should be late in

PLENTY OF PASTURE IS GOOD FOR YOUNG PIGS

Pasture produces, the most plentifully productive and economical hog feed.

It is not only valuable for the nutrients it contains but for the exercise it gives the hogs. Both advantages are especially important for proper handling of young pigs.

Good green pasture is succulent protein feed containing a liberal amount of minerals and is most efficient when used with a ration of corn or other grain supplemented with an animal protein such as tankage or skimmed milk.

STUDY POSSIBILITY OF INSURANCE FOR CROPS

A Hartford, Conn., insurance company has begun investigating the possibilities of crop insurance. Deficient or excessive moisture, storms and frosts, hail, hot winds and various animal and insect pests are being considered for causes of insurance.

The afternoon or towards evening, so that the bran will be fresh for the worms when they begin to feed at night.

The poisoned bran is made up of 25 pounds of bran to one pound of paris green or white arsenic, or two pounds of arsenic of lead, and two quarts of cheap feeding grade of molasses, and two or three gallons of water—not enough that the bait will be sloppy, but enough to dampen it so that it will mold in the hand and break into fine particles when scattered.

SOY BEANS RESULT IN SOFT PORK U. S. EXPERIMENTS SHOW

Five Years of Investigation Reveals Causes of Soft Pork

The feeding of hogs to prevent the development of soft characteristics, once thought to be a problem only in those regions where peanuts are fed, is no longer a sectional difficulty, says the United States Department of Agriculture in calling attention to the results which have been obtained during five years of investigation. It is now almost a nationwide problem among hog raisers because of the increasing use of soy beans which also produced carcasses lacking in firmness. There are now three feeds recognized of soft pork, peanuts, soy beans, and rice polish.

At the recent annual meeting at Knoxville, Tennessee, representatives of the State experiment stations taking part in these investigations, and representatives of the United States

Tells Sufferers How to Endiles Forever

Rochester Doctor Achieves Remarkable Success with New Prescription. Must Give Absolute Relief or Money Back.

It has remained for a well known Rochester doctor to find a real remedy for Piles. Years of patient, painstaking effort on his part has resulted in a prescription that will actually heal Piles and absorb them never to return.

This doctor says no man or woman need suffer another hour from any pain arising from Hemorrhoids or Piles now that he has made arrangements with leading druggists to dispense this wonderful prescription known as MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES for a moderate price on the money back if dissatisfied plan.

You'll be amazed to see how quickly it acts. Blessed relief often comes in an hour, even in cases of long standing with profuse bleeding really wonderful results have been accomplished.

Special Note—For Itching Piles MOAVA has been prepared in Ointment form as in such cases it is not necessary to use the Suppositories. Simply ask your druggist for a jar of MOAVA OINTMENT. Schintz Bros. Co. can supply you.

Department of Agriculture, discussed the results obtained in this long series of experiments. This is the first year it has been possible to make definite statements on the influence of soy beans on firmness of hogs. Summaries of the experimental results obtained by the Alabama, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas Agricultural Experiment Stations in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture during five years' investigation of the soft-pork problem have shown that:

1. Soy beans grazed or self-fed alone or with minerals self-fed through a period of 7 to 8 weeks to pigs starting at approximately 100 pounds weight and making gains of 40 to 50 pounds produced soft carcasses. Further, the results have shown that the degree of softness of the carcasses increases as the gain in weight of a hog on this feed increases.

2. Soy beans grazed or self-fed alone or with minerals self-fed starting at approximately 100 pounds weight and making at least a moderate rate of gain through a period of 7 to 8 weeks will not produce firm carcasses even though a subsequent gain in weight has been made by the pigs on corn and tankage equal to that previously made on the soy beans.

3. Soy beans grazed or self-fed with a supplementary ration of 2 1/2 per cent of shelled corn with or without minerals self-fed produce soft hogs when the pigs are started on the feeds at approximately 100 pounds weight and make at least a moderate rate of gain through a feeding period of 7 to 8 weeks. Further, the results have shown that the degree of softness of the carcasses increases as the gain in weight of a hog on this feed combination increases.

UNITED STATES TIRES ARE GOOD TIRES

What Latex means to U. S. Balloon Tires

NOTICE a balloon tire flatten under the weight of the car and you realize how great a responsibility for combined flexibility and strength low air-pressure construction throws on the tire manufacturer.

When the balloon tire was first being considered the makers of U. S. Royal Cord Balloon Tires had already developed the Latex Process—and patented it.

They had the supply of latex—liquid raw rubber—on their own plantations—and the methods for bringing it to this country.

So U. S. Royal Cord Balloon Tires are built of Latex-treated cords—and have strength and flexibility obtainable by no other method.

Combined with longer service, U. S. Royal Cord Balloon Tires have the advantages of accurate balance and a tread scientifically designed for low air-pressure.

Consequently their tractive and anti-skid qualities meet every requirement of safety and ease in handling at all speeds.

Who Cares?

Some telephone subscribers take this position:

"I have a telephone, my friends have telephones. Why doesn't the telephone company let well enough alone?"

We might let the man who is waiting for a telephone answer that, but we won't.

Every new telephone added to the system makes the service more valuable to the present subscribers.

Adequate telephone service in the factory, in the store, at the mines, on the farm, is as essential as the trucks and railway cars which move the products.

Telephone growth must keep pace with population and the increasing complexities and demands of modern life.

If it is true that the telephone has facilitated the marketing of goods and commodities, and thereby has lowered prices, it holds true equally that inadequate service would tend to keep prices at a higher level than they should be.

KIMBERLY WATER SYSTEM WILL BE FINISHED IN FALL

Papermill Village Installing Nearly Three Miles of Waterpower

Construction of the Kimberly waterworks system is being pushed as rapidly as possible in the hope of completing the work before the approach of winter, or even by October or November. All the cast iron pipe needed for laying the mains has arrived and has been distributed on the streets where they are to be used. J. J. Faust & Sons of Kaukauna, who have many important well drilling jobs to their credit, had on Aug. 1 already penetrated through several strata to a depth of approximately 160 feet. J. Pastoret Co., of Duluth, who have the excavating contract, are engaged in digging trench after trench both by machine and hand labor. They have completed about 2,000 feet. Erection of the pumping station, the reservoir and the big stand pipe will be undertaken when the artesian well is finished.

The well drilling is being done under the supervision of Dr. Rufus M. Bagg of Lawrence college, who made the geological survey for the well, and A. E. McMahon of Menasha has been retained as engineer to supervise the installation of the waterworks system.

$100,000 BOND ISSUE

Considerable strides have been made since the electors of Kimberly voted on the project. The $100,000 twenty years bond issue was voted on by the people May 6 and carried by a vote of 144 to 35. Contractors' proposals were immediately advertised for by the village board, contracts let and work started by July 7. A few contracts, such as for the installation of pumps, are yet to be let. The village board will continue to supervise the project until its completion when a waterworks board will be appointed to manage the system. The village expects to have about 200 consumers.

The construction of the system will not require a change in the equipment or personnel of the fire department. The village has a volunteer department of 22 men operating apparatus completely motorized, and consisting of pump and hose vehicles and hook and ladder trucks.

BIG WELL CAPACITY

The artesian well when completed will have an estimated capacity of 500 to 800 gallons per minute. The total depth of the boring will be about 650 feet and will, according to geologist's survey, penetrate through the following formations: Glacial red clay with boulders and some gravel pockets, 30 feet; Galena limestone with some blue shale bands, to be cased off, 125 feet; St. Peter sandstone, 27 feet; lower magnesian limestone, 168 feet; Cam-

AUTOMOBILE TOURISTS HAVE ACCIDENT ON TRIP

brian (Potsdam) sandstone, 327 feet. The well drillers have already penetrated through the first two formations, and the results compare accurately with the survey.

To avoid interference with the underground flow to the Kimberly Clark company well, the village artesian well was located on the west end of Charles-st., about one block from the Fox river, where the water is expected to rise within 30 feet of the surface. The bore is 12 inches in diameter all the way down and about the first 100 feet is to be cased with steel in order to shut off surface drainage. The casing is to be of 15-inch bore. While there are three water horizons in the lower Potsdam sandstone series will yield sufficient water for municipal purposes. There is an excellent water horizon in the St. Peter sandstone formation but the strata are not thick enough to hold an inexhaustible supply of water for continued pumping.

What type of pumping equipment will be installed has not yet been decided definitely. Eids have been advised for, however, and action will be taken shortly. The system will be either a centrifugal pumping unit with a deep well pump in connection, or the equipment will be an air lift system. The system would be used to lift the water by air compression from the drilled well to the reservoir, and booster pumps would force the water into the mains at the stand pipe.

H. J. Sommer Company of Greeley has the contract for erecting the pump house and reservoir. This is to be built of reinforced concrete and will have a total storage capacity for fire protection purposes of 100,000 gallons of water.

The steel tank and tower, contract for which has been awarded to the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel company, will be 132 feet high and will have a capacity of 100,000 gallons of water. The stand pipe will be located on Kimberly-ave in the center of the village.

Plans for the Kimberly waterwork call for the laying of 20,552 feet, or nearly three miles of water main, of the following size: 4,588 feet of 12 inch, 5,065 feet of 8-inch and 10,799 feet of 6-inch mains. The pipe was ordered from the National Cast Iron Pipe company, of Birmingham, Ala. and the trenching is done by the C. Pastoret company of Duluth. Hydrants of which there will be about 39, have been purchased from the Watrous Fire Engine works, St. Paul, and the valves have been ordered from the Crane company, with branch offices in Oshkosh.

FIRST REPAIRS IN 40 YEARS AT COURT HOUSE COST $10,000

County Building Given First Overhauling Since It Was Built

Repairing and renovating the courthouse will, when completed, cost the county between $8,000 and $10,000 the work probably will be finished by the end of this week. For several months the courthouse has been in a state of continued disorder, while the carpenters followed the masons, the painters coming after the carpenters and other laborers laying the linoleum.

This is the first time that the courthouse has had a general overhauling since it was built 40 years ago. The roof has been repaired, window frames and stairways have been strengthened and in some places the floor was reconstructed. The floor in the circuit room was so poor in one spot that one of the workmen stepped through it. Rotting carpets and worn down linoleum floor coverings were removed.

Y. M. C. A. CHERRY PICKERS PUT ON CIRCUS IN CAMP

A circus, who full quota of clowns, elephants and all the things that go with it, will be saved by five hundred boys in the Y. M. C. A. cherry picking camp at Surgeon Bay at their camp Tuesday evening. It is expected there will be a gathering of several hundred people at the grounds to see the boys go through their antics. The camp this year is one of the most successful ever held from the viewpoint of the boys and the orchard owners, according to reports.

To give way to serviceable brown linoleum. The concrete parking space used by courthouse officials was enlarged. All of the walls in the building were redecorated. The highway office was moved across the hall into a larger room remodeled for office purposes.

According to an estimate, the carpenter work will cost about $3,000, the painting about $2,400, the linoleum about $3,000, the concrete work $400 and the minor interior repairs about $200.

JAP THROWS WOMAN CHAMP IN STRAIGHT FALLS

Miss Mercereau Gives Wily Japanese Veteran Interesting Contest

Joe McVey Finds Mike Stein of New London Easy Prey When Latter Offers Strained Shoulder As Alibi.

Virginia Mercereau, world champion woman wrestler, Monday night demonstrated her ability on the mat before a fair-sized crowd when she bested Matty Matsuda, Japanese star, extremely busy for 28 minutes and 10 seconds and 15 minutes and 13 seconds respectively in two falls. The wily Jap contented himself with defensive tactics during the early part of each fall, breaking out of every hold the former Appleton girl was able to get and finally pinning her to the canvas. Miss Mercereau displayed great familiarity with practically every hold in the catalogue and several times had Matsuda in hot water. Her use of the headlock which she learned from Ed "Strangler" Lewis, bothered the Jap considerably and he seemed to break out of it with increasing difficulty every time he tried. A crochit and overbody hold was Miss Mercereau's undoing in the first fall, while in the second she succumbed to a grapevine combined with an overbody hold.

MATSUDA IS WARY
Matsuda seemed considerably lighter than Miss Mercereau and was wary about mixing it when they started. The woman champ clinched his head in a look right after the start and held him there for more than a minute before he was able to break her hold. Thereafter she tried everything on her opponent. Her body scissors several times had the Jap worried but he managed to secure a double toehold on Miss Mercereau and forced her to loosen up. Miss Mercereau shot Matty to the edge of the mat with the flying mare and then picked him up and whirled him about by one of his legs. Matsuda seemed to get out of this also and when the first 15 minutes were finished had failed to win the $150 stake posted by the Police Gazette.

After a minute's rest they went at it again and Matsuda began to try a few tricks of his own. He applied the toehold with increasing frequency and wore Miss Mercereau down with his elusive tactics. After eight more minutes of this, Matty applied the crochit and overbody hold which sent Miss Mercereau's shoulders flat.

GRAPEVINE WINS
The second fall was much like the first. Both Matsuda and Miss Mercereau tried several new holds, but until Matty got the bonetwisting grapevine, he was unable to do much with the woman champ. At one time Miss Mercereau got a hold on Matty which he crawled out of it only to get into an armlockers combined with a bar arm. This worried him but he got out of it and took a toehold once more. Miss Mercereau stuck to it although she appeared to be suffering severely and broke it every time. The grapevine and overbody hold combined was too much for her however, and she was pinned to the mat in 13 minutes and 15 seconds.

In the semi windup Joe McVey of Appleton won two straight falls from Mike Stein of New London in 13 minutes and 42 seconds. Stein quit after the second stanza had been going for 2 minutes and 55 seconds, claiming he had strained his shoulder in the previous fall. McVey easily outwitted the awkward New London man and broke his holds without apparent effort, while Stein suffered much under the Appleton man's wristlocks and bar arms. Stein attempted to dispute the decision of Joe Farrell, who refereed this match as well as the final, but Joe refused to haggle and stuck to his decision. When Stein quit he and McVey were lying on the mat with no particular hold, resting, and shouts of derision greeted Stein's attempts at explanation.

Loyal Wing of Hortonville pinned James Bodo of New London to the mat in 6 minutes and 10 seconds in the second preliminary with a body scissor and double wristlock. The two lightweights were fast workers and broke from one hold to another with great rapidity. Bodo seemed to be the more experienced of the two. Wing often got holds which should have won for him, but seemed ignorant of how to apply them to the best advantage.

FISCHER PINS KEMPE
Two Appleton boys met in the opener. Rudolph Fischer made short work of Paul Kempe whom he threw in straight falls in 2 minutes and 22 seconds. Kempe put up a gritty battle, but an armlock and overbody hold was too much for him in and lost him both falls.

Several hundred fans, among them women, attended the event, despite the fact that the roads leading to Waverly were flooded to the depth of more than a foot in many places. Miss Mercereau's efforts drew a lot of applause, and most of the spectators seemed surprised at the showing she made.

During an intermission of the main event, Matty Matsuda issued a challenge to Joe Farrell to meet him in a final fight in any style. Farrell accepted, designating Jim Jitsu and co-7 as catch can as the chosen style, and the two shook hands to bind the agreement. Whether the match is to be arbitrated here or elsewhere was not decided and the date also was left open.

PRESS-GAZETTE TEAM CHALLENGES KAUKAUNA OUTFIT

Newshounds Issue Defis to Kromer's Former State Leaguers and Industrials

Press-Gazette Newshounds of Green Bay evidently have an abundance of confidence in their ability as baseball club. They have been winning consistently in their own neighborhood and are out for new victims. Their manager, "Barney" Rhodes, is challenging both George "Stormy" Kromer's Kaukauna club and the strong Combined Locks Industrial team. Rhodes claims he has been trying to get a game with the former Kaukauna State leaguers but without success. His letter follows:

"Sport Editor Post-Crescent, Appleton, Wis.—
In behalf of the Press-Gazette Newshounds of Green Bay, I wish to issue a challenge to the columns of the Post-Crescent to 'Stormy' Kromer's former Kaukauna State League team.
"We have been after a game with the 'Kromer Klan' for some time past and he has always dodged a game with the Newshounds.
"I stand ready to meet Kromer's so-called State Leaguers any time, any place and any date he might choose, and will meet him Sunday on his own grounds if he would so choose.
"I also wish to issue a challenge to the Combined Locks team which has played at the Green Bay reformatory on a couple of different occasions."

Ray Schalk Finally Shows Signs Of End

This Will Be First Season Brilliant White Sox Backstop Has Failed To Catch More Than 100 Games.

Ray Schalk, brilliant catcher of the Chicago White Sox, is apparently to be denied a certain goal that he had set.

For 11 consecutive years Schalk has caught 100 or more games. He hoped to stretch the record to an even dozen, then rest on his laurels. However a series of injuries have practically killed his chance.

Schalk has passed the peak of his game. Years of hard work have taken their toll. The wonder catcher of the White Sox admits that he is "I guess 100 games is a little too much for me now," says Ray, "but if I ever get my hands in good shape again there is no telling what I might be able to do."

At present Schalk is playing with three badly injured fingers on his throwing hand. Most catchers wouldn't even don a uniform under the circumstances. Schalk loves the game. Perhaps that in a measure explains the greatness that he has attained.

GLUTTON FOR WORK
While far from being husky Schalk is built on sturdy lines. One would never expect a player of his physique to stand up under 11 years of hard service, in which he caught from 106 to 151 games.

From 1912 to 1924 Schalk has taken part in 1444 games, an average of some 121 games per season over a period of 13 years. The big league schedules call for 154 games. This will give some idea of how little the rest of the White Sox catching staff has had to do over that stretch of play.

Schalk's record of 11 consecutive years, in which he caught more than 100 games each season, is more than double the best National League performance, five years by Chief Myers when with the New York Giants.

MOST EXHAUSTIVE CAREER
Schalk's career in the American League fairly seems with brilliant performances. The feat that placed him most is that he has made a put-out at every base in the infield, quite unusual for a catcher.

While Schalk may never again catch 100 games during a major league season, he is far from being through as a catcher, still is one of the most valuable in the majors.

As a matter of fact, there will probably be a place for Schalk in baseball as long as he cares to stick to the game. His knowledge of the catching game makes him invaluable to a club in its development of pitchers.

Always noted as a smart player, the managerial field is open to him, should he care to take a whirl at directing a club.

Catchers of the Schalk type come about once in a score of years.

BERNICE WALL IS STAR IN TOURNEY

Lake Forest, Ill.—Miss Edith Cummings, national woman golf champion, pushed her way around the Owenista club course Monday and emerged with the low score of the qualifying round for the Women's Western Golf Association tournament, which started Tuesday morning.

Miss Cummings made an 84. As something akin to the Johnstown flood hit the course shortly before play started, some of the scores went well into three figures.

Miss Bernice Wall of Oshkosh, Wisconsin state champion, Mrs. Lee Mida of Chicago and Mrs. Fred Letts of Chicago, tied for second place with 88 each. Mrs. David Gaut of Memphis was third with 89, and Mrs. J. W. Taylor of Evanston was fourth with 90.

Some of the other scores were: Mrs. C. C. Russell, Milwaukee, 97; Mrs. R. J. Kohn, St. Louis, 98; Mrs. Stewart Hantley, Detroit, 100; Mrs. J. Armstrong, Jackson, Miss., 102; Mrs. Virginia Pen St. Louis, 91; Mrs. Paul Kohnan, St. Paul, 112; Mrs. C. Rich, Green Bay, Wis., 116.

PORK RINDS
Bait dressing seasons come and go, yet the little porkers hold their own. It's been fooling the game firs for years and undoubtedly will continue to do so.

There are many anglers who like to "carve" their own little strips and chunks and many have inquired as to how they can keep them in good condition for the season so that they can put in a stock.

A half ounce of formaldehyde mixed with a pint of water makes an excellent solution and will keep the "porkers" almost indefinitely so, if you are one of the "rind" fiends that stake your all on this little "fryer" and chunkie, why here's a little tip from an old timer who has been using it for years and "carves his own" most of the time in order to get it to the proper dimensions.

Some of the "rogers" seem to have many strikes on the strips and cannot land their quarry. Here probably are the whys and wherefores of the "fins" setting away.

JUDGES FALK AND HORNSBY PROUD OF SLUGGING NEPHEWS

Capital of Lone Star State Takes Deep Pride in Baseball Heroes

Austin, Tex. — Austin, capital of the largest state in the union, has more than that single reason to feel distinguished.

Last week Judge John W. Hornsby and Judge Henry Falk got together in a discussion of this and that. The former casually remarked that his nephew, Rogers, is again leading the National League in batting. Whereupon Judge Falk returned, "Oh, stop bragging, look what my nephew Bib is doing in the American League." At the time Bib was leading the American League batters.

"Yes sir! And Rogers was raised right here in Austin," Hornsby boasted.

"So was Bib," put in Falk. "In fact, this still is his home."

The news got around the town with the usual speed that hot gossip travels in towns the size of Austin. Austin threw out its chest when it learned that its two distinguished sons were leading the two big leagues in batting at the same time. This was something unparalleled in the history of baseball.

Falk went into the American League lead in early July by dint of a sensational batting spurt, during which he averaged two hits a game for a week. Hornsby has led the National League hitters almost from the start of the season.

The rise of Falk and Hornsby to stardom in the majors has been sensational. Rogers first came to notice in Fort Worth in 1913 in a high school league after his family moved from Austin. His brother, "Pop," was a star pitcher for the Dallas team in the Texas league. He persuaded Joe Gardner, owner of the Dallas club, to give Rogers a trial.

The younger Hornsby was a wonder in the field, at short, but poor at bat. Gardner advised him to go out to a smaller league and in due time Rogers joined Hugo, Okla., 11-1, shifting to Denison, Tex., where he was signed by the St. Louis Cardinals in 1915.

Falk first attracted attention when he was with Bill Ditch's University of Texas Southwestern Conference champions in 1919. He pitched, played first base and outfield.

In 1920 Kid Gleason of the White Sox saw him in an exhibition game and prevailed upon Owner Comiskey to sign Falk. The transaction was made. Now Bib is regarded as one of the best looking players in the American League.

Falk has a young brother in Texas now who looks even better than Bib did in his college days.

A.A. Ball Teams Stage Hot Race For League Lead

Toledo—in speaking of close baseball races, don't overlook the American association.

At the half-way point less than 150 points separated the first and last teams. That's a small difference in an eight-club organization. The first three clubs, Louisville, St. Paul and Indianapolis, are blanketed, while the other five are so closely bunched that a leap from the cellar into fourth place could almost be made in a day.

Another interesting fact is the playing of Toledo. For years the Mudhens have been chronic tailenders. This season, however, the team, piloted by Jimmy Burke, is but a few games out of third place.

Late Rally Wins For Yanks, 9 To 8, In Hot Battle With Detroit

Both Games of New York-Chicago Doubleheader Decided on Mound As Hostiles Split Even.

These are great days for the also-rans in the American league steeple chase. While New York, Detroit and Washington sap each others' vitality with spurt and counter-spurt, the remaining five clubs slowly but steadily reduce the gaps which separate them from the leaders and from one another.

As the Yankees again bounded to the fore through their defeat of the Tigers, the Browns advanced to within three games and a half of the senators. The Yankees Tuesday head the field by one game and Detroit, in second place, distances Washington by half a game. Between the fourth place Browns and the last place Athletics only ten games intervene.

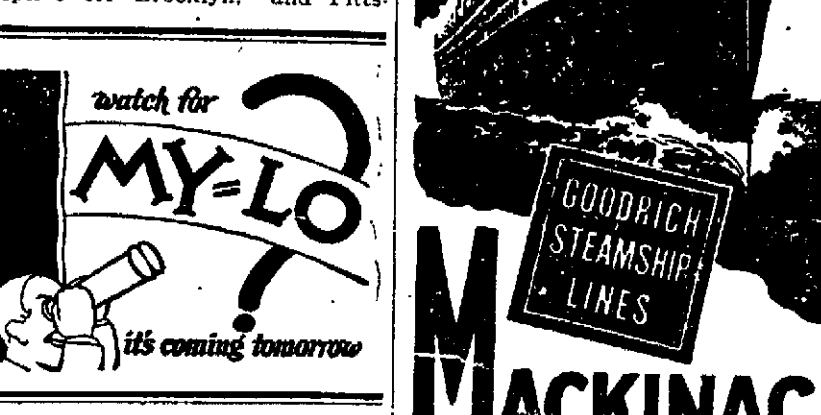

Launching one of the late-inning rallies for which they are famous, the Yankees forged to the front in the eighth, were tied by the Jungle Caste in the ninth and ultimately won by a score of 9 to 8 in the eleventh. Ruth's thirty fourth homer was the headline performance.

St. Louis made it two straight over Washington and six wins in seven starts by capturing the second game of the series, 5 to 1. Wingard pitched in his usual invincible form.

After getting rid of all the poor pitching in his system in the first inning, Messenger, Cleveland's recruit from Saginaw, Mich., recuperated and held Boston safe while his team mates hammered out a 14 to 5 victory.

Both games of the New York-Chicago double bill were decided on the pitching mound. Bentley portended the McGraw clan to an easy 5 to 1 conquest in the opener and Blake returned the compliment in the final by a 5 to 2 count.

Wilbur Cooper's slants were too deceptive for Brooklyn, and Pitts-

Speaking of Seeking

It is sometimes a long, weary, troublesome task to find the thing or things you want.

Then, at another time, seeking may be nothing more than a mere glance which leads your eye to exactly what you are looking for-as is the case when anyone is seeking something in the Post-Crescent's A-B-C Classified Section.

TRAIN SERVICE ON NORTHWESTERN IS RESUMED TUESDAY

Storm Damage to Crops, Roads and Railroads Mounts Into Thousands of Dollars

Trains from the south began arriving in Appleton shortly after midnight after an interruption for nearly 24 hours caused by severe washouts between Oshkosh and Milwaukee during the storm Sunday night.

The northbound Chicago and Northwestern train due here at 2:30 Monday afternoon arrived at 12:30 Tuesday morning. It was the first train from that direction since the 2:35 morning train Monday. At 3:10 the train due here at 11:32 Monday night arrived. After that service was moving with more regularity. Service on the Ashland division and other lines here did not suffer on account of the storm.

Although Appleton seemed to be the center of the storm Sunday morning, this section escaped the brunt of the Sunday night storm which did enormous damage to crops, railroad tracks, city streets and basements of homes.

The worst damage to crops occurred in Crawford where a large acreage of tobacco and thousands of acres of grain were washed out or destroyed by hail. Flooding of basements was quite general in Oshkosh where canned preserves and vegetables were ruined in almost every home, according to reports. Streets in Oshkosh and Fond du Lac were covered with water. Four deaths in the state are traceable to the storm, either by being struck by lightning and drowning. Fourteen bridges in Oshkosh were swept away.

In Outagamie county a barn belonging to Henry Roehl, Asylum, Grand Chute, was struck by lightning, but did not burn. A cow owned by Herman Zimmer, Grand Chute, one-half mile west of the Mackville road, was struck by lightning while out in the pasture.

HAITI WILL EXPEND MONEY TO DEVELOP WEALTH OF HER SOIL

Technical Bureau of Haitian Department of Agriculture Is New Venture

By Associated Press. Port-au-Prince, Haiti. — The creation of a technical bureau of the Haitian Department of Agriculture is the newest phase of the American administration of the island. An extraordinary credit of $170,000 has been voted by the council of state to carry it out. The bureau was created and placed under Dr. George F. Freeman, recently nominated by President Coolidge and confirmed by President Borno.

Dr. Freeman has just concluded an extended personal investigation of the agricultural potentialities of Haiti, and express great optimism regarding its future. Travelling for the greater part on horseback, he visited and questioned the small farmers, the priests and gendarme officers, the local school teachers and school children, and reports that he was most favorably impressed with the outlook.

He found large areas excellently adapted to the cattle growing industry, with unlimited growth of perennial grasses. In the hill lands he found excellent soil for yields of grain, sugar cane, cotton, vegetable and fruits and, generally speaking, soils of good agricultural quality that, with proper treatment, will assure productivity on a profitable scale.

The climate impressed him as admirably for the production of all tropical field crops and fruits, and many stretches need but irrigation, necessary for economic crops, while at present they are well adapted for the growing of cotton, dates and citrus fruits. The plateau and mountain sides are capable without irrigation for general farming, fruit growing and vegetable raising. Between the mountain ranges were found level lands where large plantations of cotton, sugar cane and bananas are possible on a profitable scale.

With the new field practically virgin, Dr. Freeman plans to build his structure from the ground up. He will start with the nucleus of a complete organization and will develop from the Haitian people the personnel required, rather than by the employment of experts from outside sources. The organization will be moulded along the lines that have succeeded in the United States. Forestry will also be developed to handle this work.

Under his supervision and a corps of trained foresters will be developed to handle this work.

The Secret of An Easy Riding Car

The automobile of today is a different machine to that of five or six years ago. Motors are more reliable, tires give two or three times more mileage, bodies are greatly improved in appearance and comfort, and they ride better if you know how to look after the springs.

I can imagine the average motorist saying that there is not much to look after in the springs, all you have to do is to splash a little oil over them now and again.

Now it may surprise you to know that it is just as easy to OVER LUBRICATE the springs as it is to not give them sufficient oil.

The idea of the springs is to absorb the shocks when driving over rough or uneven roads. When your wheels pass over a bump, the leaves of the spring first take the shock, then absorb the rebound.

Now here is the point you want to learn about springs. When the car passes over a bump, the shock depresses the spring and as it comes up on the rebound, the leaves of the spring first take the shock, then absorb the rebound.

FORCED LANDING OF PLANE STARTS ORGY OF RUMORS

"Casualty Reports" Following Plane Accident Savor of War Tales

Rumors of an enforced landing at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon of the giant passenger airplane brought here under the auspices of the Oney Johnson non-stop trans-American began Tuesday to take on the semblance of some of the extravagant casualty reports given out during the World war.

The rumors started Monday evening after the plane started on a flight toward Kaukauna. Motorcops were said to be scouring the county in search of the lost airplane. Later the rumors developed into the report that the aviator, Wilt Adams, was overcome by gas and thus forced to land. Still later the enforced landing grew into a crash in which the aviator and four passengers were killed.

The truth of the matter was, that although there was an enforced landing, between Combined Locks and Kaukauna, it was not due to gassing, but a broken outer pin which loosened an exhaust jacket. Mechanical trouble of this kind is said to happen frequently, and the aviator was not in the least worried about it, although the four passengers thought it quite thrilling.

To guard against such troubles as this, several emergency fields had been arranged for. That was the reason why the plane always followed the same route so that a landing could be made at any time.

A new cotton pin was ordered sent by special delivery and the passengers' flights were expected to be resumed late Tuesday afternoon. They will be continued until after Sunday.

The first of the incidents in question, and one which aroused tremendous indignation in British circles in Peking, occurred recently when K. E. Bessel, British traffic manager employed by the Peking-Mukden railway at Fengtai, was savagely attacked because of a controversy over the attaching of a special motor car to the regular train from Peking. After protesting that it was contrary to regulations, and while in the act of conceding to the demand under menace of violence, Bessel was knocked down by armed soldiers. While unable to defend himself he was kicked by the man, described by him as an officer, in charge of the car.

WHITE PRESTIGE IN CHINA LOWERED BY FOREIGN EDUCATION

Assault on Foreigner and Invasion of Rights Demonstrated Lack of Respect

Peking. — Two recent incidents, one involving an assault upon a foreigner and the other an alleged invasion of civil rights, following on the heels of a long succession of more serious events growing out of the prevalence of banditry, have served to accentuate a widespread consciousness among foreigners residing in north China that the special consideration formerly enjoyed by them at the hands of Chinese, both officials and civilians, is definitely waning.

Various reasons for such "loss of prestige," as it usually is called, have been advanced by old residents in the country. The favorite one is the loss by several nations of previously enjoyed rights of extra-territoriality. By some it is said to be due to growing enlightenment in western methods as a result of an increasing number of foreign educated Chinese engaged in governmental, military and economic affairs. Others attribute it to belief on the part of the Chinese that the nations under prevailing disturbed conditions are in no mood to maintain their former privileged status by force.

The first of the incidents in question, and one which aroused tremendous indignation in British circles in Peking, occurred recently when K. E. "DICKIE" SMILES AT STORY

Statement Is Brought Out By Questioning By Benjamin
Baehrach

By Associated Press

Chicago — Dr. Bernard Glueck of New York testified at the Franks hearing Wednesday morning that Richard Loeb throughout his mental examination of him, had admitted that he struck the blow with a cold chisel which killed Bobby Franks.

Two defense alienists previously on the witness stand had failed, they testified, to ask the boys as to which had struck the fatal blow and the state had been unable to bring out the point.

Throughout the investigation of the connection of Loeb and Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., with the murder, the matter of who actually struck the fatal blow had been the unsolved mystery. Both youths, while confessing to the kidnapping and slaying, accused the other.

Loeb remained impassive when Dr. Glueck testified that he had killed Bobby Franks. Leopold leaned forward, a grimace on his face, smiled slowly and talked with counsel.

The statement that Loeb actually had struck the fatal blow was brought out under questioning by Benjamin Baehrach of defense counsel.

"Did Loeb say who struck the blow?" said Baehrach.

"He told me throughout all details, that he, Loeb, struck the blow," replied Dr. Glueck.

Judge Caverly and the attorneys remained impassive as had Loeb when the testimony was offered. Judge Caverly leaning calmly on his hand, elbow on the arm of his chair.

LACKED SQUEAMISHNESS

It was not apparent, that the spectators had caught the real significance of the remark. There was nothing to indicate that they had even caught the remark.

"I took up with Loeb the Franks crime and asked him to tell of it," testified Dr. Glueck. "Loeb replied in a most matter of fact way, narrated details and planning of the crime, and I was amazed at the absolute absence of any normal feeling. He showed no remorse, no regret, no passion or love and as he kept on talking it became evident to me that he was utterly devoid of emotional responses. It became wholly incomprehensible to me except that I felt he had a very abnormal personality."

I never saw such profound disparity. He told me of his little brother of whom he was most fond. Yet he had considered him as a possible victim. Even here he showed no emotional response. He explained his matter-of-factness by saying that he had nothing within him that might call forth any such response. Of his stay in jail and manner adopted in that situation he said it all seemed natural to him. He does not take seriously at all his present situation. My whole impression of him based upon my experience is that of a person who was in a disordered state of some sort."

OBSERVED BOYS IN COURT

Dr. Glueck said he had observed the boys in the court room. "It seems to me they absolutely do not take in emotionally the meaning of this whole situation," he added. "As they enter and depart, as I watch them in their seats, it seems to me they appear to be attending a college play of some sort."

"It is extremely significant, in my opinion, that they continue to show the same kind of response you would expect from any normal human being."

"Did Loeb tell you anything else, Doctor?" asked Mr. Baehrach. "About hanging, he said in the most unemotional way that it would be too bad if he would not get to read about it."

Dr. Glueck said he had examined a lot of so-called hardened criminals and in Loeb's emotional response the compromise was extremely significant. "He shows refinement and intellect, yet he registers no emotional reaction to this crime."

Wisconsin Telephone Co., Applies to Rate Commission for New Schedule

Increased rates on all classes of telephone service in Appleton to enable the company to earn a reasonable return on its capital investment is asked in an application filed Wednesday with the Wisconsin Railroad rate commission. The percentage of increase is heaviest on business phones and, according to telephone company officials, the highest rates will be paid by subscribers who make the largest use of their telephones.

Representatives of the telephone company are visiting subscribers to place information concerning the company's revenue and expenses before them so that they will understand why the company is requesting a higher rate.

$13,920 INCREASE

Revenue of telephone company here must be increased $13,920 a year to earn a return of 7.30 per cent on the capital investment of approximately $185,000 to be made in Appleton for new equipment this year, telephone company officials say. Rather than ask for a flat increase to cover all phases of service, the company has prepared a new schedule, which will be submitted to the railroad rate commission, fixing rates on the basis of telephone use.

The smallest increases will be on residence phones and the heaviest on business telephones. The 1-party residence phone, which now is $2.50 a month, will be increased to $3.50.

Okla. — J. W. Walton, ousted governor, is favored candidate, held a slight lead over J. C. Walton, ousted governor and bitter Klan opponent, in the race for the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate as returns from Tuesday's primary trickled in early Wednesday.

Unofficial returns from 1,137 precincts of the 2,996 in the state gave Howard 37,482 and Walton 33,814. The three other candidates in the race apparently are out of the running.

In the Republican senatorial contest, W. B. Connelley, Klan endorser, had a lead of nearly 8,000 over his nearest opponent, Eugene Lorton, Tulsa publisher and adversary of the Klan, when returns from 456 precincts were tabulated.

The Howard-Walton contest is the object of most interest.

Bad Weather Conditions Hold Supply Ship Frozen in Drifting Ice 15 Miles Off Coast of Greenland.

Washington, D. C.—Arrangements were completed Wednesday by the Army Air Service to send an airplane from Langley Field, Va., to Pictou Harbor, Nova Scotia, to be used by Lieutenant Leigh Wade from that place over the remaining route of the world flight in company with the two other fliers.

London—Safely at Reykjavik, the capital of Iceland, after a strenuous battle against a gale during their five hour trip from the east coast Tuesday, the American army aviators are turning their eyes to far-off Greenland.

Between the main their next goal and along a route which parallels the Arctic circle, stretch 500 miles of black water, part of which is blocked by ice fields, conditions being the worst in years for this season.

The Danish government steamer, Gertrud Rask, entrusted with the task of delivering supplies for the aviators at Angmagssalik, their next scheduled stop, reported Tuesday by wireless that she was frozen in and drifting with the ice, being unable to fulfill her mission.

Latest advice from the aviators said Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith, commander of the expedition, was in conference with Lieutenant Eric Nelson, the other remaining pilot and the conveying naval officers as to the next step.

Reykjavik, Iceland — Lieutenants Lowell H. Smith and Eric Nelson, the United States Army world aviators, expect to remain here several days following their stormy trip from Hovfing Hornafjord, on the eastern Icelandic coast Tuesday. The fliers said they could start Wednesday on their Greenland flight except for the uncertainty of the situation at Angmagssalik where the worst ice conditions in years are reported.

The aviators do not like the prospect of a 450-mile flight over open water with no certainty of a proper landing place. The reports from Angmagssalik are conflicting there being no assurance as yet that the supply steamer Gertrud Rask, reported Tuesday caught in the ice 15 miles off shore, had been able to deliver her supplies for the aviators' next stop.

Major Clarence E. Cramm of the United States Army Air Service who was awaiting the fliers here when they arrived Tuesday, is canvassing the situation but is uncertain as yet when it will be feasible to continue the flight.

Lieutenant Wade's original craft, the Boston, was wrecked near Faroe islands. The substitute will be christened the Boston II. It is the extra Douglas machine used by the pilots during their training for the flight and will be flown from Langley field by Lieutenant George C. McDonald. The date of departure has not been definitely determined.

Stops will be made at Keyport, N. J., Boston, Mass. and other Bar Harbor or Rockland, Me., during the trip to Nova Scotia.

With the world flight entering its final phase and its great prize within the grasp of the American aviators, reports to the war department Wednesday emphasized the seriousness of the obstacle created in the path of successful completion by adverse weather conditions along the Greenland coast.

The army advance party charged with the duty of establishing a fuel and repair base at Angmagssalik, the next scheduled stopping place, has been halted 15 miles away from that port by ice fields, which are described as worse than recorded in many years in dispatches from the cruiser Milwaukee. Lieutenant L. D. Schultz, head of the party, was said to be "struggling determinedly" to carry out his mission.

Witness Tells of Groans and Cry of Father While Son Guarded Door

By Associated Press

Marquette — Vincent Koteski, the state's star witness in the case of Lewis and John Brandt Jr., on a charge of first degree murder following the burning to death of their father on the Brandt farm more than three years ago, took the stand shortly after the preliminary hearing was resumed Wednesday.

It was Vincent Koteski who had made a sworn statement which led to the arrest of the accused brothers. Following the recital of his relations with the Brandt family, his signed statement was presented. In a cross examination later he reaffirmed the burning to death of their father on the Brandt farm more than three years ago, took the stand shortly after the preliminary hearing was resumed Wednesday.

Previously Conrad Asmuth, state fire marshal, was on the stand and told of the investigation following the fatal fire and how Koteski's statement was secured.

Frank Koteski, who is alleged to have made a statement to District Attorney A. F. Murphy corroborating the witness' allegations, was to be the next witness.

In the hearing Tuesday, the state apparently proved to the satisfaction of the court that the victim of the fire was John Brandt Sr. It was also brought out that a revolver found in the ruins of the fire could not have been used by the dead man to end his life.

Early in the proceedings Tuesday the murder and arson charge was withdrawn and a charge of first degree murder preferred against the brothers.

Washington Sees New Influences in Life of President Coolidge

CONFERS WITH HARVEY

Charles B. Warren Makes Extended Visit at White House After His Return

BY ROBERT T. SMALL

Copyright 1924 by the Post Pub. Co.

Washington, D. C.—Washington is wondering if new political influences are coming into the life of President Coolidge. The long visit which Charles B. Warren, former ambassador to Mexico, has made at the White House, admittedly has not been related wholly to Mexican affairs.

Then too, Colonel George Harvey has been consulted recently, coming home in Deal, N. J., for the purpose. Colonel Harvey was the great supporter and confidant of President Harding. In fact, he is one of those who claimed to have made Mr. Harding president. Colonel Harvey has not been taking a prominent part in Republican affairs since the death of the last president. He did not "make" any of the candidates this year, nor Mr. Coolidge, nor Mr. Davis, nor even Senator La Follette. But apparently he is coming to the fore again and is definitely lined up under the Coolidge banner. In any event, he seems to have been consulted by the president on the subject of the latter's speech of acceptance.

POSITION IS INDEFINITE

The position of Warren is to have in the president's political cabinet still is a bit indefinite. Mr. Warren, too, was a close friend of the late President Harding and offered his services to him both before and after the election. It has been said that Mr. Warren might act as liaison officer, or go-between, for the "old guard" with National Chairman Butler. But it appears now that a deal is being made between the old-timers in the G. O. P. and the new chairman of the national committee from Boston, has been lined out and the need of a diplomatic intermediary may no longer be considered necessary.

Mr. Warren is extremely popular with the older members of the national committee, having served for a long time on that body himself. He is thoroughly representative of the "old guard" and he also has kept step with the times and is generally acceptable to the progressives who have remained loyal to the party.

While Mr. Warren will in no sense supplant Chairman Butler as chief political adviser to the president, he has that of the president's intelligence and his knowledge of men and affairs in general is sure to be used by the president to the fullest advantage.

It will be recalled that Mr. Warren traveled all the way from Mexico City to Cleveland, O., to act as chairman of the resolutions committee of the Republican national committee. He was true to the personal request of President Coolidge.

REYNOLDS IS INFLUENTIAL

Mr. Warren's present high status at the White House and in Republican political circles is attributed largely to James B. Reynolds, now of this city but formerly of Boston. Mr. Reynolds at one time was secretary of the national committee.

Now the vice president of a national bank in this city and the chief executive is one of his depositors. Organized labor generally is credited with owning a large block of stock in this bank—an interesting situation in view of the efforts of the American Federation of Labor to swing labor into line for La Follette and Wheeler.

Bail After
Ending Term

Plymouth, Mass.—Charles Ponzi, his term as a federal prisoner ended, left the Plymouth jail Wednesday. Accompanied by a deputy sheriff he went to Boston to try to arrange for the furnishing of $14,000 bail required of him on charges brought in the state courts in connection with his financial schemes.

Four years ago Ponzi attracted the attention of the whole country by his offer to pay huge interest on short term investments in his Securities Exchange Co. of Boston, which purported to operate a plan of dealing in international postal reply coupons and to be making great profits through the depreciation in foreign exchange. Thousands of persons entrusted millions to him and many of them received the promised profits.

Finally the authorities stepped in and closed up the business. Ponzi was convicted in the federal court on charges of using the mails in a scheme to defraud. He was sentenced to jail for five years. With the usual remittance for good behavior this term expired Wednesday.

LOSS RUNS INTO MILLIONS

Engineers and Legionnaires Blast Large, Expensive Bridges for Safety

By Associated Press

Milwaukee — Wisconsin's most severe storm in years took a terrific toll in property and life and the end is not yet, according to surveys made Wednesday morning. Property loss will reach millions of dollars, it is claimed.

Blasting of large, expensive concrete bridges near West Bend, to permit a faster flow of flood waters, as a necessary measure, was going forward Wednesday under the direction of engineers and members of the American Legion.

More than 15 bridges on the Chicago and Northwestern and Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul roads between Milwaukee and Green Bay are washed away, all train service on north branches discontinued indefinitely, while hundreds of volunteer workers are aiding in the work of repair.

WATER STILL RISING

Waters in swollen rivers and streams from Milwaukee to Oshkosh continue to rise, flooding lowlands and taking toll of bridges, buildings and crops. Just as the volume of water was receding after the storm of Aug. 3 heavy rains of Tuesday afternoon added heavier burdens to the already overtaxed streams.

Hundreds of tourists are stranded in cities and towns of the flooded area, while in Milwaukee many persons are waiting an opportunity to continue journeys northward. A milk train, picking its way slowly over soft tracks, went into the ditch at Kewaskum but with no casualties.

Cities and towns in the flooded area so far have been able to take care of all families made homeless by the rushing torrents.

In Wisconsin the toll of death traceable to the storms of Aug. 3, and Tuesday had reached eight, the names of three having been added during the night. They are Oscar Lundgren, 20, killed when lightning struck a barn on his farm; Arthur Sorenson, 10, Kenosha, killed by the same bolt, and Ruth Cannan, 2, drowned in Fisher river, near Arnold, Chippewa-co. The last storm was state-wide, in many places becoming near cloudbursts, especially at Baraboo, where the Baraboo river was reported out of its banks for the first time in several years. Western Wisconsin likewise suffered from heavy rains with damage less apparent.

The heaviest toll was taken in the area between Milwaukee and Fond du Lac where water lies in vast ponds in places that but recently were showing promise of yielding bounteous crops. In the face of their huge crop losses, farmers appear stoical and are waiting for the water to subside that other farm work may continue.

West Bend was dark Tuesday night except for candles and oil lamps when water to the depth of three feet flooded the city lighting plant.

Seven inches of rain fell at Neenah since Sunday. It is reported. Other vicinities in the same area report unofficial rain measurements varying from 3.5 inches to 5 inches.

Near Campbellsport, two miles of concrete road has been washed away, according to latest reports. Highway 55 near that town has been closed to traffic.
